

P4 8/10 Cols de Murs 90km, two nice hills

Length	Total Ascent	Max. Slope	Difficulty
88.3 km	1221 m	11.49%	87/100

This is one of the tougher routes. It runs down from the Ventoux over the north Luberon plateau and back via the Col du Murs. Again, almost car free once you get to Venasque with some nifty little climbs to test out the legs.

On the other wise you'll ride through Gordes (be sure to look back over your shoulder on the way out – this is one of the region's great photo ops). We suggest a pit stop – for lunch, or a coffee – on the main square in the middle of Goult. But any village will have food and drink options.
